What to Expect

Visitors can expect to see something new at each Open Day, with behind-the-scenes snippets from our volunteer guides. As we reimagine the gardens, bold decisions are being made to rejuvenate key areas. You will discover removal of plantings and hedges that have run their course. This is a much loved garden which is in a season of replanting and you will learn the methodology behind this approach when you visit.

Please note some parts of the garden are closed while the magic takes place

For the 2022 season, all ticket proceeds go to Malmesbury groups and charities via Malmesbury Carnival.

The Team

We're thrilled to have secured the award-winning team at Graduate Gardeners with Head Gardener Freya Langford formerly of BBC TV Gardeners' World.

Abbey House Manor

The grade I listed house, which dates from the 16th century, with 13th century foundations, is not currently open. Over the next couple of years, Kim and Whit plan to lovingly restore the house into a luxury hotel subject to receiving permissions.

How to Book

Tickets cost £5 (plus booking fee) in advance from www.abbeyhousemanor.com or £7 on the day (subject to availability)

All proceeds to Malmesbury groups and charities.

Refreshments

There are no on-site refreshments or picnic facilities this season, but you'll find plenty of independent cafés, restaurants and pubs right next to the gardens in Malmesbury. You might even want to reserve a delicious Afternoon Tea at our very own The Old Bell Hotel next door.

Places to eat and drink: The Birdcage, The Old Bell Hotel, The Kings Arms, The Summer Café, Abbey Café, Michael's Bistro & Deli, The Whole Hog, Jackdaws Coffee House, The Smoking Dog, La Campagna, Spice Merchant, Coffee#1, The Rose & Crown

The Old Bell Hotel

Rumoured to be England's oldest hotel, with high design interiors and quirky treasures from around the globe, the hotel has 34 uniquely designed bedrooms, beautiful lounges, and delicious food, drink, and cocktails in the Saints & Sinners Restaurant and 1220 Bar.

Plus, a new outdoor Tyger Bar opening Spring 2022.
